

Alex Isaac Lewis III

April 1, 2020

Alex Isaac Lewis, III, an accomplished and admired native New Orleanian, was called home to be with our Heavenly Father on Wednesday, April 1, 2020, at the age of 75 due to Corona Virus (Covid-19) related complications. He was a distinguished graduate of Booker T. Washington HS Class of 1962. During an illustrious career spanning five decades, Alex worked and excelled in the government, hospitality, and energy sectors. His most notable achievements occurred during his tenures as Personnel Director for the Marriott Hotel, 1984 Louisiana World Exposition, Louisiana Superdome, and the Sheraton Hotel. He was most recently contracted with Liberty Bank & Trust Company. Alex always strived to be an inspiration of hope and encouragement for those in need. Whether friend, foe, neighbor, colleague, or stranger, he would often provide a helping hand, shoulder to lean on, words of comfort, and/or a listening ear. Actively involved in the cultural, political, educational, and spiritual aspects of the city he so loved, Alex was a trailblazer and strong advocate for equality, fair pay, upward mobility, and human rights. He served as a respected mentor, advisor, and confidant to many businesses, organizations and individual New Orleanians regardless of race, age, gender, religion, political affiliation, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, or socioeconomic status.

Anyone who had aspirational goals and was willing to put in the work necessary to achieve them, whether it be climbing the corporate ladder or becoming a force for positive change in the community, Alex was usually there to assist even when on many occasions, he neither requested, expected, or accepted any monetary compensation. He served on various boards in the New Orleans Area, most notably the French Quarter Festivals, Inc., Volunteers of America, Urban League of Louisiana, New Orleans Regional Black Chamber of Commerce and the Sewerage and Water Board. However, Alex never hesitated to roll up his sleeves to do cleaning, lifting, serving, assembling, disassembling or any type of labor, menial or otherwise, that was essential to the success of an event or cause in which he participated. He faithfully and humbly demonstrated a consistent willingness to perform these tasks and others during the many years that he served as a volunteer for the Louis Armstrong and French Quarter Festivals.

Alex was also a musician (clarinet) spending time with the New Orleans Concert Band. He was a member of the Ashé Contemporary Arts Centre as well as an actor/director dabbling in theatre at the Chakula Cha Chua Studios and Anthony Bean Community Theatre. More than the many public accolades he has received, or having his image included in the impressive mural of notable alumni at the new Booker T. Washington HS, or seeing his picture adorning the walls of restaurants in the Big Easy as a celebrity customer, it will certainly be his love for life, his family, his heritage, the Fine Arts, and above all his deep and abiding faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior that will serve as the most enduring legacy of Alex Isaac Lewis, III.

Alex is predeceased by his beloved wife Mary Louise Baham Lewis, parents Alex Isaac, Sr. and Mary Louise Lewis and siblings, Lorena Harris and Eric Lewis. He is the extremely proud father of Alex, IV (Kasia), Carlton, Christopher (Jennifer) and Jason (Kiley). He will always be the adoring PawPaw to grandchildren Angelique Stewart (Lejon), Alesia Farve (Lawrence), Candace Lewis, Alex M. Lewis (Sarita), Caitlyn Lewis, Alaina Watson (John), Lauren Dillon, Cori Lewis, Lawrence Dillon, Zoe Lewis, Kennedy Green, Taylor Lewis, Brandon Lewis and to great-grandchildren

Lejon Stewart Jr, Lillian Garza, LeDonovan Stewart, Leila Holmes, Stephan Anderson, Serenity Lewis, Sabriah Lewis, and Lawrence Farve III. No words can describe the love he had for his siblings Ronald Lewis, Victoria Lewis, Mary Lewis Shanks, Annie Bell Robertson (Alvin) and Michael Lewis (Ericka). He is also survived by a host of nieces, nephews, other family members, and friends.

He will be well-remembered by the officers and members of Cornerstone United Methodist Church and Bethany United Methodist Church, as well as the staff of Liberty Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans Regional Black Chamber of Commerce, and D.W. Rhodes Funeral Home. Alex's family would like to extend their sincere gratitude to Dr. Reginelli and the dedicated men and women of the intensive care unit at Touro Infirmary Hospital for their courageous and tireless work on his behalf.

During this time of COVID-19, formal funeral services are not feasible as all large gatherings of people are expressly prohibited or ill-advised. Therefore, The Family of Alex, in conjunction with D.W. Rhodes Funeral Home and Cornerstone United Methodist Church, will announce a date and time regarding a memorial service to celebrate the abundant life and legacy of Alex Isaac Lewis, III when the current situation improves. Family and friends are encouraged to leave prayers, words of comfort, contact information or loving memories. Arrangements by D. W. Rhodes Funeral Home 7411 Chef Menteur Highway.

“ Alex was one of the 1st people I met when my ex-husband, Alan D'Zurilla and our family were transferred from California to New Orleans about 30 years ago. We were living in The Sheraton New Orleans with 3 young sons and a baby girl. Alex introduced us to people and helped us to find a wonderful real estate agent. He was a huge help as the family got adjusted to our new city. While I don't live in NOLA any more, it is still my favorite city and a large part of that is because of Alex. I have never forgotten him and send my sincere condolences to his family. He was an exceptional person

“ My thoughts and prayers are with your family at this most difficult time. I served with Alex for many years on the board of - and as an officer of - French Quarter Festivals, Inc. He was a kind man who believed in treating all people fairly. I was impressed at how easily he could get to the root of a problem and explain things so logically that you couldn't help but agree with him. It was great seeing him at the gala in early March. I pray that you take comfort in the fact that Alex was loved and respected by so many and that, although God's plan may not be revealed to us during our lifetime, it will be abundantly clear when we move on from this life on earth.

“ Where do I begin?! There aren't enough words to express what he meant to me and how special he was to everyone who was blessed to meet him. My Pawpaw never met a stranger, he could strike up a good conversation with anyone, his heart was larger than his beloved New Orleans.

We had so many memories in my 34 years that I can't pinpoint just one, or two, or even a handful. He loved without reservations, his intentions were always with purpose, and his legacy was fulfilled. Although we no longer have him here in body, he surrounds us in spirit with his forever love, my Mimi. In the midst of our great sorrow, I know that he is at peace.

Pawpaw, I'll miss your "Why Hello There", and whenever I would ask how you were, you would say "Not too shabby". I'll miss how you could deconstruct any menu item and make it "Mr Lewis style", I'll miss your smile and your laughter, I just miss you.

*-With Love, Forever and Always

“ As a Board member of French Quarter Festivals, and past President, I had the honor of working with Alex. He was always graceful and a guiding force. During my time as President I had to navigate a troublesome issue. Alex stepped up and assisted myself and the staff during this time. His knowledge, level head, excellent communication and ability to comfort was instrumental in guiding us to a positive place. I will always remember his unwavering support and will be forever grateful for his assistance during this time at Fest.

“ As we sit back and think about our PawPaw, memories start to flood in. It's hard to individually pinpoint a fondest memory of him, that we each have, because they were all grand, but we think we were able to accomplish the task. PawPaw was just that kind of grandfather, every moment was a memorable experience.

For our daughters, Serenity and Sabriah, their fondest memories of their PawPaw was that he always gave memorable and unforgettable hugs, the kind that you can feel for a lifetime and always brought a smile to their faces. No matter how busy he may have been, he always found the time to sit down, play board games and do puzzles. All the while sharing valuable pieces of knowledge with them.

The first time I met PawPaw, my husband Alex and I had just welcomed our youngest Sabriah into the world. Coming down to New Orleans, I was worried how his family, specifically his grandparents would accept that I had another child prior to meeting their grandson. My worries were for naught, Mimi, PawPaw and so many other members in the Lewis family, welcomed us with open arms without hesitation. That first night, we drove in around 1am to New Orleans to their residents on Good Drive. I remember he always gave a memorable hug with a sigh of comfort. He made sure to have food upon arrival (catfish, shrimp and french fries). Another fond memory with PawPaw was some of our memorable times spent at restaurants, because he always had a recommendation wherever we went. Our last memory was back in January when we went back to New Orleans. On our last night, we all went to Cafe De Monde for a late order of coffee and beignets. As we all sat around the table, I noticed that PawPaw was embracing the moment, looking upon his family, his legacy with a smile on his face. The vision of him sitting back, enjoying and watching his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren bonding and laughing, will be a sight that I will cherish forever because I could feel his pride for the Lewis Family.

As his Grandson, as others, I have many memories of him. He taught me a lot whether it was directly or indirectly. He set the benchmark for the Lewis boys of how a Man should be. As I reminisce, I am grateful for a lot of memories and moments we spent together. I'll never forget the time when I was flying back to Poland and he flew with me to Chicago to keep me company and also to ensure that I made my last flight safely. During that layover in Chicago, we must have played countless crossword puzzles that Mimi had gotten us, before I boarded my flight. If I had to pick from the list of fondest memories of PawPaw, the most important one to me, was his voice. If patience had a sound, it would have been PawPaw's voice. To this day, when life gets hard or just when I get tired, his voice always comes to me with all the advice he had given me over the years and somehow I always push through. Hearing him speak, is my fondest memory because to me it meant that no matter what was going on, it would always work out.

PawPaw, even though you no longer walk amongst us, we know you and Mimi are looking down on us all with pride. We love you PawPaw, hold Mimi a little tighter from us all.

Always,

Your Great-Grandchildren and Grandchildren,

Sabriah, Serenity, Sarita & Alex

“ Alex, Carlton, Chris, Jason and all of your family, I send this note with a heavy heart.
I was so saddened when I received the word of my beloved Al's passing.
He leaves me with so many great memories from working together and being a great comrade in the hotel business and great friend forever.
We truly had a "mutual admiration" society.
He and Mary are smiling down on us today and always.

Always,

“ Alex was a great man who contributed immensely to the City of New Orleans. His service to the community was unparalleled in his unselfishness of giving without any expectations or desires of being rewarded. Yes, he was great, but humble with an infectious smile and a persona that invited anyone and everyone regardless of their station to pull up a chair and engage in conversation.

Alex was a devoted family man who adored his late wife, Mary, and their family dearly. I will miss our lunch meetings over the many years.

You now have your wings to join Mary in Heaven.

“ Mr. Lewis and his wife were the best tour guide couple and New Orleans advocates the city could ask for. They knew the city and its history. I had the pleasure in late 1990's or early 2000's to visit New Orleans and get the royal tour. What a great time I had and we ate at a great steak dinner at a Black Owned Cafe they know. I will miss not having Mr. Lewis as my connection in New Orleans. May Mr. and Mrs. Lewis rest well. Until we meet again.

Condolences to the family and especially, Alex III and Little Alex. We met at the U.S Embassy in Warsaw, Poland in 1992 when he and Little Alex, My now ex-wife - Jo, my son Christopher and I were almost all of the Black people (10) in a country of 55 million. We were always on parade. I pray for peace of mind and spirits for all of you.

“ I had the privilege of working with Alex at both the RSD and when he helped us out at NOCCA. He was an incredible and giving human. One of my favorites. Was a measure of compassion and humanity. It showed most in the facts that he loved all children, art, family, and was a true friend. World would be a better place with more people like Alex. New Orleans is better for you having been a part of her and you are missed.

“ Alex was in the first class of students that I taught at Booker T. Washington--1961-1962. I was a beginning teacher--French and Spanish. Alex always had the manner of an executive. He was polite, assured and knowledgeable. He and his classmates made teaching fulfilling. We teachers knew that Alex and his classmates would make the world a better place.

“ Mr. Alex and Ms. Mary were our New Orleans family. As kids Ms. Mary was one of our second mamas who took us kids in and let us grow up with Jason. As I grew up Mr. Alex was a mentor who helped me transition to the profession world and learn to be an adult. I have many fond memories of Mr. Alex and the Lewis family. He is a warm, generous and loving presence that will be missed.

“ Condolences and sympathy. When at the Marriott, Alex was one of the first to assist me when trying to locate employment for my DECA students. He hired my Rabouin students every year. Also, many times he assisted in employment opportunities to young people and the unemployed. Although I was surprised by his theatrical skills, I was not disappointed.
