

Alton T. Carson

April 26, 2020

Alton Tommie Carson, affectionately known as "Big Al Carson", went home to be with the Lord on Sunday, April 26, 2020 at the age of 66. Born October 2, 1953 to the late Richard Carson and Gloria Carson-Ison (Stepson of Romalis Ison) of New Orleans, LA. A New Orleans native and musical icon, Al was a graduate of Booker T. Washington High school. He later attended Xavier University of New Orleans majoring in Music. In the late 70's as a Gospel Singer and member of Old Zion Baptist Church, he became known within the Gospel Music Community while performing with the popular Christ Elite Gospel Choir. He was a Scottish Rights Mason for many years. In the late 80s, his tremendous talent as a Tuba player as well as his one of a kind voice scored Al a role in the Nationally Acclaimed stage play One Mo' Time. A highly visible musician and proud member of the New Orleans Musicians Foundation, Al was an intricate part of several highly regarded New Orleans Dixieland and Jazz Bands such as Doc Paulin's Dixieland Brass Band, Herman-Sherman's Brass Band, Young Tuxedo Brass Band, Dejan's Olympia Brass Band, and Teddy Riley's Royal Brass Band to name a few. One could catch Big Al at the New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival, New Orleans French Quarter Festival, the Zulu Lundi Gras Festival and occasionally at The House of Blues. Many years ago he could be found at 4th Edition and Pampies Lounge, until landing on Bourbon Street at The Funky Pirate where he and the Blues Masters performed nightly for over 20 years.

Alton "Big Al" Carson is survived by wife: Corina Carson, mother-in-law:

Carlota Sussmann, stepsons: Desmond Sampson and Jose Barrios (Annik), grandchildren: La' Salle Galloway, Desmond Sampson Jr. and Julien Barrios, sisters: Greer Lauriano (Adolph) and Cynthia Zeno, sisters-in-law: Martha Scheurmann (Randy) and Carla D' Bran, brothers-in-law: Henry, Adolfo and Daniel Sussmann, nieces and nephews: Charlotte Hewitt (Patrice), Adele Hill (Rovan) , Jeanne Zeno, James Lauriano (Venetia), Jude "Jaz" Zeno Jr., Maurice Lauriano, Gabriel Cathy, Ryan and Dylan Schuermann, Noah Sussman, Adessa, Jon-Carlos, and Jonathan D'Bran along with a host of other relatives, musicians and very special friends.

Due to the Government Social Distancing Guidelines, the family prepares for a private service, however, a public drive-thru viewing will be held at D.W. Rhodes Funeral Home, 3933 Washington Ave. New Orleans, LA 70125 on Saturday, May 2, 2020 at 4:00pm until 5:30 pm. A musical will be streamed live on D.W. Rhodes Funeral Home Facebook page at 6:00 pm. “ Rest in peace, dear friend. I met you in 1992 when we went on Mayor Barthelemy's trip to Matsue, Japan, for the signing of the sister city accord with that city. The Japanese were very impressed with you and your musical talent. The Japanese love New Orleans and its music and you and your band were the very best representatives of the unique music that only New Orleans has. Many blessings. Catherine Castro

“ My deepest condolences go to the family of Alton Carson. My many years of knowing Big Al started in 1974 at Xavier University where he was an early inspiration who introduced me to Doc Paulin. Over the years we shared many adventures in countless brass band parades and other music jobs. Playing well, singing with ultimate soul, and making people laugh and feel good we're always present with Al. Our last conversation of a few weeks ago concluded with my promising to come hear him on Bourbon St. again soon. Now he's singing with the "angels' blues band" and playing sousaphone in the heavenly "eternal second line" where we will all join him one blessed day. I'm am praying to the Creator to give his family strength, peace, and spiritual comfort at this most difficult time.

“ We have so many memories of Al Carson that it is hard to talk about just a few. We were working in New Orleans in 1998 and heard that we had to go down to this place called the Funky Pirate to hear a fabulous blues man. We were hooked! Once we were no longer working every other week in town, we began our four to five times a year travels down to New Orleans. Front and center every night we were there to listen to Al and the Bluesmasters. In 2002 we got married by Reverend Tony in the Funky Pirate with Al sitting behind us (left picture below). We surprised him at Jazz Ascona in Switzerland one year to watch him perform, we were at the Pirate for his surprise 50th birthday party, and we were there in the front row in October 2018 when he made his triumphant return to performing at the Pirate. Our latest pictures together from last year show that we've all aged a little in the last 20 years! We will forever cherish all our memories and treasure the gifts that our friend gave us with his friendship and love.

Over the years, I had the Privilege of being in several commercials with "Big Al"; including one for a European candy bar that was shot near black no you over a period of days...they put me on the snare drums, so I was in the little jazz band with Al...it was very hot, but some of the most funniest things happened during those days...couldn't laugh any harder and Al had a little saying; it was" yea yea yea!!!"....so we became friends....over the years I would pass by the Funky Pirate, and as a wonderful big man with an even Bigger Heart; Big "Al" would stay true to form; he never forgot that friendship...A Great Loss to our community...May the Good Lord continue to Bless all y'all his family and other friends...from: Jack Harris (local actor and friend...)...

“ Oh, my dearest of friends! My greatest teacher of life and music. It means so much to have spoken to you days before you went home. My love never stops, my respect only grows. Corina, please find some comfort in knowing how much he gave to this world. His love for us was amazing and his heart captured us all. I love you Mr. Carson. Your joyous blues changed my entire world. This great man touched my heart, soul and lifted me beyond anyone else in this world and I will never forget. I will never forget his joyful spirit, his beautiful smile and his heart full laughter. “Hello, Good Evening” Mrs. Corina Carson, I am forever grateful to have also known you and to have been welcomed into your home. Please know I do not pretend to understand, but I do know exactly how you are feeling now. It will change, it will become somehow easier even though the pain of loss is overwhelming and will never go away. The love you share still lives on and will forevermore.

“ I live outside of Philly PA but had the good fortune of visiting the Crescent City quite often during a long sales and marketing career that bring get me to town for conventions.

There was one place I would never miss visiting when I was there - Pirates Cove - to hear the sweet blues sounds of the Human Blues jukebox Big Al Carson and the sweetest soul music found in the city. Sweet because it flowed from the heart and soul of this beautiful human being.

He didn't know me yet always smile when I would place money in the tip jar . Some nights I would drink that godawful green hand grenade and regret it the next morning. But I'd never regret a night spent in Big Al's presence, amazed by the big man's talent. The fact he had a bigger heart for all of humanity as he sharing his god given talent singing the only true form of American music.

I cried the night I read Mem's post that he has passed from this world to the next. I hope the family finds comfort in the memories shared when we beheld him here with us.

I shall never forget Big Al Carson and regret I did not have the chance to thank him for all those nights, back in a world that no longer exists.

“ Al and I shared a running joke for over 25 years we would greet each other with it on our respective gigs. It started in a little club on Jazzman St. I think it was named the 4th edition. I weighed about 160lbs and was about 6ft tall a total beanpole. We would say we were identical twins and the only way you could tell us apart was because Al had a Jerry curl. I always did a song as a comedian stroking the Brother Randy version he would always say he's doing his twin brother version when he sang it. With eyes filled with tears, a mind filled with memories, and a spirit filled with an unending love that transcend all things I say rest in peace to my identical twin brother.

“ Big Al Carson

I'm still in shock. I promise that I won't continue to fill my thread with posts about him, but this one hurts.

I met Big Al, during our response to Katrina. I often laugh about the fact that Bourbon St. was back in action before most of the hospitals were - if you got drunk, fell down and hit your head - we had no place to treat you!

So, there we were, in a wild town, filled on a Friday night with First Responders, trying to blow off some stress. As per the requirements, we hit every bar on the strip, finally getting down to 727 Bourbon St - The Funky Pirate (Arrrrhh!). The sound of the blues flowing out the open doors was like a magnet to me!

There, sitting on his ubiquitous bench - truly, his throne - sat one of the biggest men I've ever seen. 500 pounds of pure, soulful, blues. Big Al Carson. Along side him, the one and only Harry Sterling, on guitar, Harold Scott, on bass and Rodney Rollins, on drums - The Blues Masters! I was blown away!

I have been a blues harp player for decades, and would never go to a music town like NOLA, without at least a basic brace of harps, covering the usual keys of the blues. That night was no different. Between sets, I asked Al, "got room up there for a skinny harp player?" His response: "can you play?" was delivered with a look that told me he meant it.

I gave him a bit of a rundown on some folks I'd played with. He asked my name and where I was from, to which I replied, well, my musical friends call me "Fast Eddie." As for where I was from, at the time, it was New York.

After a song or two in the next set, Al asked, "where's Fast Eddie, from New York City? Get on up here!" So, I did.

Once I got up on the stage, Al looked out to the crowd - the joint was packed - and said, "Every now and then, somebody asks if they can sit in with us. Sometimes, we let them." Then, he turned his head and looked at me and continued, " but if you make us look bad, I got a man out back that's bigger than me, and he's gonna kick your a!"

No pressure, right?

I grinned at Al and replied, "Bring it on, Big Man!" And so began a friendship that's lasted for almost 15 years.

Needless to say, I did not get my a kicked that night. And I didn't leave the stage for the rest of the gig. Since that night, I've sat in with the Blues Masters on countless occasions - beyond a doubt, my favorite musical memories...though we all found it more comfortable for me to stand to the side of the stage - it was pretty well filled by "Three Fat Cats and One Skinny Dog!"

I will truly miss those wild nights at The Funky Pirate. From that first day forward - even though I hadn't lived in New York for years - every time I walked in to the Pirate, Al would announce: "Fast Eddie from New York City, in da house!"

Harold Scott (the "Skinny Dog") passed away, only a couple of weeks ago, may peace be with his soul. Now, he and Al are surely at it again!

The clip I'm sharing here, was recorded by Alton Carson, just days before his passing. It shows the heart and soul of this man, who was only so physically large, because that's what was needed, to hold his giant heart.
