“ Ms. Miller, when you told us today that you could never make Bert mad, I think we all nodded our heads in agreement. I taught Bert Spanish at Priestley, and he always had a smile on his face. Just like so many people said today, he was always joking around and making other people laugh, but he was always respectful about it. He was a true joy to us at Priestley. There are not many people like that in the world. So many people are just angry, bitter, and mean. But Bert was in a class of his own. Not only did he never get mad, you could never get mad with him. I have been blessed by knowing him, and I will try to be more like him in his honor. You raised an exceptional young man. I am so sorry for the tragic loss of his presence among us. Please know that you and your daughter are in my prayers.

“ Bertrand was a student in my English class at Xavier. His fellow students and I were stunned to hear about his passing. He was kind, goodnatured, and friendly, and his face would light up when he had something to say in class. The English 1000 class at Xavier University wishes his family our deep condolences.
