“ To the Alexis family, San was always a good friend of mine, She told me when we first met, I don't know why you are taking to me we are not friends. I told her that I will hang around until we become friend and from day forth we were great friend in New Orleans and Houston. I was so proud when she got here degrees, I cold see the gleam in her eyes as she talked about her mother being a teacher. She would call over to her home to talk about what she wanted to do, and I was on board to help any way that I could. My baby girl would always run to San, and she would say Tracy get you little people and my daughter would hug San just a little bit long until San returned the hug. She was a great friend that I will always hold close, I have shed so many tears... I know that she is at peace, heal and at peace.. San you will be missed ... my sister always! Who Dat! Saints all the way!

“ To the bereaved family:

Cassandra was the best friend of my niece verna james , that passed almost 30 yrs ago. She was the best friend anyone could have had. My niece had sickle cell , which caused her to have many attacks that led to many hospital visits. Every free moment she had, Cassandra was at the hospital during those times, helping however she could. And sadly when the disease took Verna at only 25, Cassandra was the one that helped me plan and execute every stage of the funeral. I could not have done it without her! When my grandkids were born, she was there at the hospital each time. She also acted as a godmother to them, She babysat and bought them clothes. I remember her saying she had to fill in for Verna. I was so happy that she had found her calling as an educator. I'm very sorry she didn't have more years to enjoy it. May God rest her soul! I am happy that she and Verna will be reunited after all these years! please say hello to verna for me and yal enjoy paradise together until I join you!!!! I am praying for comfort and peace for the alexis family!!!

“ I must admit that when I received the news this week of Ms. Alexis passing it instantly broke my heart. I was speechless. She prepared me and my son Charles for many things, but nothing could have prepared us for this moment. I wondered how I was going to tell my son who she called “her/our baby” because she said he belonged to us about her passing. As I explained to him, he didn’t quite understand at first, but as the week went on, I realized that he was feeling her absence. I reminded my son that although she is absent from the body, she is present with the Lord. She has one of the best seats in the house and will be watching over him forever.

I will remember her for her kindness, her patience, her tenderness, her spirit of joy, and most of all the LOVE that she has shared with us. I will remember her for the numerous calls I received after hours when she remembered something funny and amazing that her baby did that day. I will look back to the past year and a half of the text messages she sent me about her baby and how proud she was of him. She was beyond a teacher to me and my son. She was a friend, caregiver, and someone we considered to be family. She was everything I could imagine a faithful servant and woman of God to be. I am so grateful to God for the time that we had been allowed with her.

We will be viewing via the live virtual service today as we celebrate her life and legacy. I send my condolences to the family, and you all are in my prayers. Thank you for sharing her with us! We send our love and support to you all.

With Love,
Charlotte S and Charles R III

Mr. and Mrs. Alexis, I was so saddened to read of Cassandra's passing. I worked with Cassandra at Brookside (John Deere) while she lived in Houston. I truly enjoyed our conversations. I was so happy to see her pursue her education. Once she moved back we would text on each other's Birthday. Late last night when I saw the news talking about the tornadoes in New Orleans the first thing I did was go to her Facebook page to check on her. Praying for peace and comfort for the family in the days, weeks, months, and years to come.
