“ My dearest June:

Remember when I told you that I wondered if God was preparing me for Claudette's department when lil' Errol was taken away two years ago, and then she left. A cross so hard to carry and yet one I did not want to bare. But I could not have imaged that any one of us would be next so soon. Seems like we had no time to prepare.

As David said of his Mom, "He did not fully understand, but God does not have to explain His decision," and that "God uses time to heal all wounds." I pray that God gives me the strength and wisdom to understand His decision, His plan . . . one that is set for each and everyone of us. But it isn't easy. Still mourning lil' Errol and Claudette. Now I have another cross to bare in my heart that is already full.

Missing you already with a broken heart,

Claudia

P.S. I am praying for your children and grandchildren that our Lord will lift up their hearts and make their burden light. Only time will tell!
