“ I am very sad to hear of Rebecca's passing. She graciously invited me to her family home in November 2016. I met her because I was conducting research on police killings in the United States. She was kind, thoughtful and very considerate. It was also obvious to me that she was tenacious, committed to battling injustice, and determined to pursue justice and accountability for Henry Glover. What an amazing person, what a pleasure to have known her. She will leave a legacy, and that will live on through her surviving family.
