“ My sincerest condolences to the Davis family, and to all who will deeply miss his friendship. I threw shot put against Reggie in H.S. (he out putted me!), and we fought in the trenches together at Tulane, although on opposite sides of the line (he gave me a concussion in practice once!). What I remember most about Reggie, was that he was an empathetic listener and a very compassionate man - which felt antithetical given his dominant physical presence. While it is deeply saddening that we will no longer have his physical presence with us, I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to know Reggie, and in our grief may our consolation come from the good and merciful Lord.

We were so very sorry to learn of Reggie's passing. He fought a valiant fight and I know that now he with the Lord; he is at peace and without pain.
